McMaster University

- Université fondée en 1881 sous le nom de Toronto Baptist et incorporée officiellement en 1887, devenant ainsi McMaster University
- Gérée par l'Église baptiste jusqu'en 1957
- Devise et armoiries reflétant l'influence du christianisme d'Europe de l'Ouest. L'établissement compte encore un collège de théologie (McMaster Divinity College)

Bibliothèque universitaire et bibliothèque des sciences de la santé

- Les deux bibliothèques ont leur propre administration, mais elles collaborent pour les collections, surtout dans les domaines et programmes interdisciplinaires.
- La bibliothèque des sciences de la santé se spécialise dans la santé humaine et la recherche, en plus de servir d'archives à la faculté des sciences de la santé et à la corporation hospitalière Hamilton Health Sciences.
- La bibliothèque universitaire couvre toutes les autres disciplines de l'établissement. Elle exploite un dépôt pour les documents du gouvernement canadien, en plus d'héberger et de gérer des archives, cartes et autres collections spécialisées.
- Depuis quelques décennies, les services d'acquisition tentent de minimiser les achats en double. Par exemple, si la bibliothèque universitaire détient déjà un certain titre dans le domaine de la santé, la bibliothèque des sciences de la santé n'achèterait pas le même titre.

Analyse des collections

- Révision des titres de subdivisions : la santé autochtone correspond à la cote R dans les LCSH et à la cote W dans la NLM
  - Exemple : WF 200-415 Tuberculose
- Élaboration d'une liste de mots clés pour la recherche de contenu autochtone dans ces cotes.
  - Champ lexical du mot AUTOCHTONE : Métis, Inuit, Cri, etc.
  - Mots clés en santé autochtone : services tenant compte des traumatismes, déterminants sociaux de la santé, tentes de sudation, etc.
- Création de listes à partir des titres correspondant aux mots clés du champ 245
- Correspondances saisies incluant les champs pertinents : cote topographique, emplacement, numéro de notice, 245, 650, etc.
- Autres cotes repérées à partir de mots clés dans les LCSH correspondant à des domaines autochtones non médicaux :
  - E 75-99 Indiens d'Amérique du Nord

CURATING THE BLACK WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE DIGITAL COLLECTION

Materials in this collection and the language that describes them may be harmful.

Libraries and archives collect materials from different cultures and time periods to preserve and make available the historical record. As a result, library materials, such as those presented here, may reflect racist and misogynoir views that may be harmful and difficult to view.

The content featured in this collection explores linkages between Black women's suffrage and other social causes of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries (anti-slavery, anti-lynching, education reform and civil rights) as well as racism within the Suffrage Movement. These materials are presented here to recognize and celebrate the important contributions of Black women and their resiliency in the face of ongoing racism and exclusion.

— Frequently asked questions

Where does this content come from?

Digital Public Library of America collects and makes freely available materials from thousands of libraries, archives, museums, and other cultural heritage organizations across the United States. Each institution or contributor shares materials with the DPLA according to its specific policies and objectives.

Why does this potentially harmful content exist?

The Black Women's Suffrage Collection includes depictions and records of people experiencing trauma and harm. These materials are collected and preserved as part of the American historic record. Librarians and archivists must balance preservation of this history with sensitivity to how it is presented to users.

Système de classification

Recommandation 5 du Rapport sur la vérité et réconciliation de la FCAB-CFLA :

Système de classification Brian Deer (BDCS)

- Brian Deer, bibliothécaire de Kahnawá:ke (d. 2019), a créé un système de classification pour organiser et décrire adéquatement les documents autochtones
- Il a mis en œuvre ce système dans de nombreuses bibliothèques tout au long de sa carrière
- Le système BDCS a l'avantage de pouvoir être modifié afin de répondre aux besoins des collections individuelles, des géographies particulières et des groupes autochtones
- Le guide « Indigenous Librarianship LibGuide » de UBC (<https://guides.library.ubc.ca/Indiglibrarianship/briandeer>) recense plusieurs articles sur la mise en œuvre du système de classification Brian Deer dans divers établissements

Lacunes

- Recherche de fond sur les enjeux de santé autochtone et mots clés pertinents à l'échelle locale
- Examen des presses et des éditeurs autochtones
- Étude des collections d'autres bibliothèques (par exemple : collection sur la santé autochtone de University of Manitoba)
- Demandes des facultés et courriels provenant des usagers de bibliothèques
- Processus de consultation !
- Politiques relatives aux collections et financement dédié

Planification de l'espace

Recommandation 6 du Rapport sur la vérité et réconciliation de la FCAB-CFLA :

« Il faudrait décoloniser les bibliothèques et l'espace en reconnaissant et en soutenant les cultures, les langues et les connaissances autochtones par plusieurs moyens : organisation de l'espace, décoration intérieure, signalétique, installations artistiques, reconnaissances de la réalité géographique de territoires traditionnels spécifiques et programmation publique réalisée en collaboration avec des intervenants autochtones ».
